Picturing the Scene I (KEY)

Match the following titles with the appropriate scene then explain why the titles match.

(Explanations may vary somewhat)

a) The Food Fight _____4_____

During a cafeteria food fight, Assistant Principals would be screaming at the students to stop. Milk would be all over the floor, and no doubt many students would have peas in their hair.

b) The Cheater _____6_____

A little black book of girls' phone numbers was discovered by a current girlfriend. Apparently, she decided to crumple up the pages of the cheater's book. Teary eyed, she reached the conclusion that she stated: "Men stink!"

c) The Robbery _____1_____

Apparently, there was a bank robbery. The tellers were frightened and began to cry in the aftermath. The police came with sirens blasting; however, the robbers seemingly got away with the money.

d) Long Vacation Day _____7_____

The scene takes place on a beach with mist blowing off the waves. Someone writes to a friend that they wish could've come with them. It's late in the day and the person is tired enough to stretch and yawn after a long vacation day.

e) The Repeaters _____2_____

A pair of teenage twins have earned the wrath of their parents by not doing their school work and have failed the eighth grade and now have to repeat it!

f) Unprepared _____8_____

g) Guilty Felon _____3_____

h) Monster Storms _____5_____

Picturing the Scene II (Key)

Match the following titles with the appropriate scene then explain why the titles match.

(Explanations may vary somewhat)

i) High Scores & Low Cash _____3_____

The mentioning of a talented freshman suggests that a high-scoring student exists. Steep tuition suggests that cash on hand may be a concern – thus, the need for a second job could easily be one that requires a chauffeur’s license.

j) Flats Tires and Snakes _____7_____

Apparently, a trip to the snake-filled zoo has been thwarted by a flat tire that was brought about by a stray nail in the road. Needless to say, the kids en route to the zoo are altogether crestfallen and sad beyond word!

k) Stolen Picasso _____5_____

A secret art buyer is viewing a private showing on a basement wall. Evidently, the showing involves a canvassed painting that’s been reported missing and those who know its whereabouts are busy selling it to the highest bidder.

l) A Parachute and a Rabbit’s Foot _____4_____

Daredevils and tangled cords suggest some mishap with a parachute. However, the mention of a lucky break suggests calamity was avoided. Perhaps the large pond served as a break-fall apparatus. The charm (rabbit’s foot) worked well!

m) Kamikaze _____8_____

The idea of breathing bullets suggests a living weapon. The final flight was the attack run into the dreadnoughts (enemy ships). Kamikazes always clipped their nails, leaving them to their mothers, as their only earthly remains.

n) Bad Sport _____1_____

The yellow flag suggests a foul. Since teasing is the conduct of a bad sport, and is insulting, it probably sparked the retaliation. The ball was probably spiked purposely close to the losing player and was accompanied by the sneaky tease.

o) Ice in the Bed _____6_____

A camper was staying in an old cabin and got caught in a snow storm. The cabin leaked and the snow found its way to the fire logs and drenched them. The poor camper caught the flu and developed a deep cough.

p) Brand New Boyfriend _____2_____

A suitor (would-be boyfriend) saw a chance to get the object of his desire. He saw a cheating boyfriend in the act and quick texted his date. The date caught the cheater and dumped him. The smiling suitor became the new boyfriend.

Picturing the Scene III (Key)

Match the following titles with the appropriate scene then explain why the titles match.

(Explanations may vary somewhat)

q) Extinction _____ 1 _____

Meteors are all made of iron or rock (or both). The giants that are fallen are the dinosaurs. The feasting rodents are the mammals that fed upon the carcasses of the fallen beasts. The new order is the reign of the mammals on the Earth.

r) Foggy Bifocals _____ 6 _____

Apparently, an old gentleman was caught peeking at an S.I. swimsuit edition again. His furtive glance was not quite quick enough to avoid detection this time either. His defense was that he's an old man not a dead man!

s) The Serpent's Revenge _____ 3 _____

A snake milker was apparently bitten by one of his very angry snakes. He was distracted by some small thing; however, he died from a large, vicious bite. His replacement is being sought for through help wanted ads.

t) Questionable Counseling _____ 8 _____

A student apparently trusted the advice of one of her fairly smart friends who gave her some fairly smart advice. However, she ended up making a really low "F" on a really big test! Thus, the counsel received was questionable at best.

u) Curse of the Sweet Tooth _____ 5 _____

The mention of Krispy Cream (donuts) suggests that someone has a sweet tooth and gains unwanted weight because of it. The scale is an evil agent, bent on destroying their thin hopes. The popped button verifies the weight gain!

v) Hurricane _____ 2 _____

Déjà vu suggests that something is repeating. It appears to be a disastrous weather development: a hurricane off the shore of Africa. With low pressures, the storm's power will increase and cause their worst fears to be realized.

w) Unemployed _____ 7 _____

Again, someone is fast asleep and dreaming when they ought to be at work. Their alarm clock seemingly is old and does not sound when it should. The sleeper must contact a résumé service. He must replace the job he's just lost. He's unemployed.

x) The Careless Driver _____ 4 _____

A careless driver has sweaty palms. He was caught running a stop sign that was blocked from his immediate view. After the flashing lights of the police patrol car pulled him over, he was apparently issued a traffic ticket and assigned a court date.
